

1

Then the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind:

“. . . I will question you, and you shall declare to me.

“Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth?

Tell me, if you have understanding.”

Then Job answered the Lord:

“Behold, I am of small account;

What shall I answer thee?

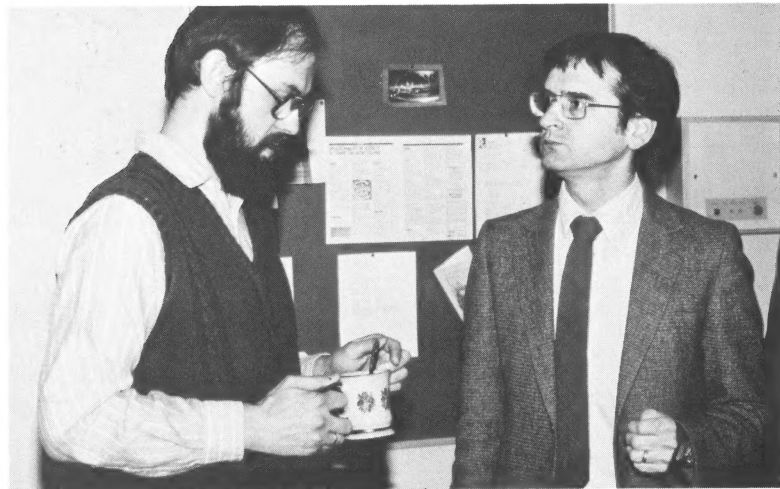

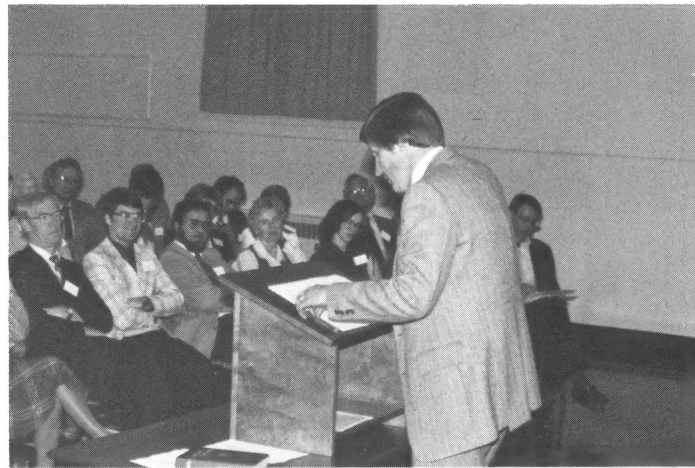

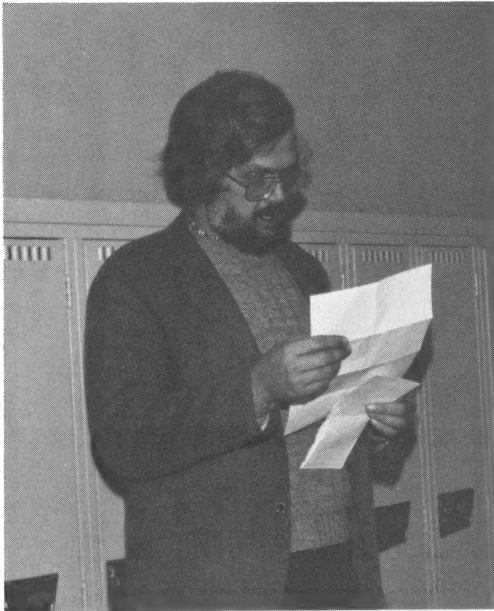

I lay my hand on my mouth.”

JOB 38:3,4

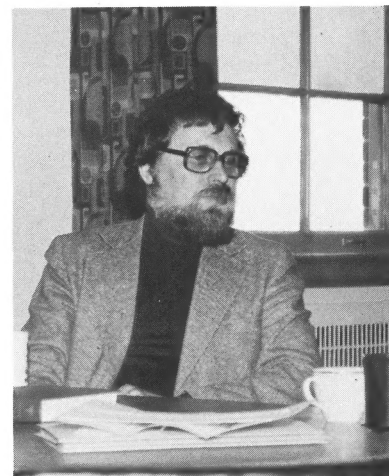

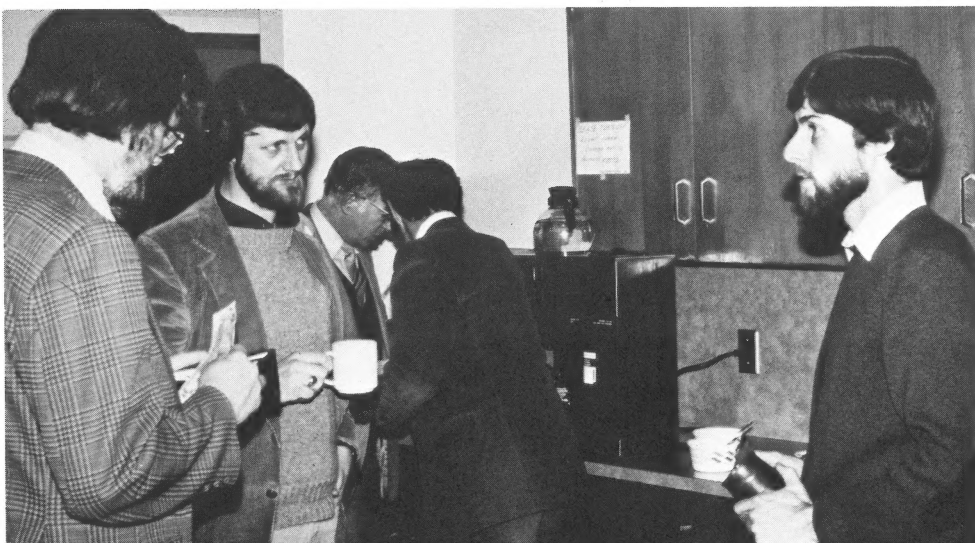

40: 3,4

Humbly,
O Lord,
I listen, and look, and learn,
And begin to sense
The fullness of your creation,
The height of your power,
The depth of your love.
And joyfully,
O Lord,
I raise my hands to you,
To offer praise
And thankful service.

Dedication

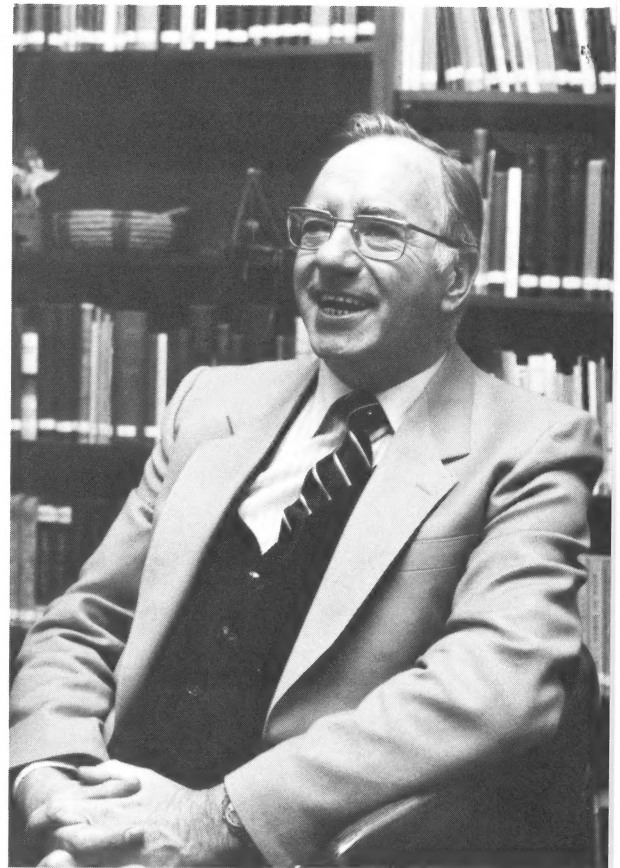

"ANNO DOMINI, 183-84," intending to capture in part the memories of this school year at Redeemer College, has as its theme the motto of the college: Learning is for serving. In recognition of their diligent service to our Redeemer and their daily efforts to teach us how we also may serve Him, this yearbook is dedicated to all the members of the college faculty.

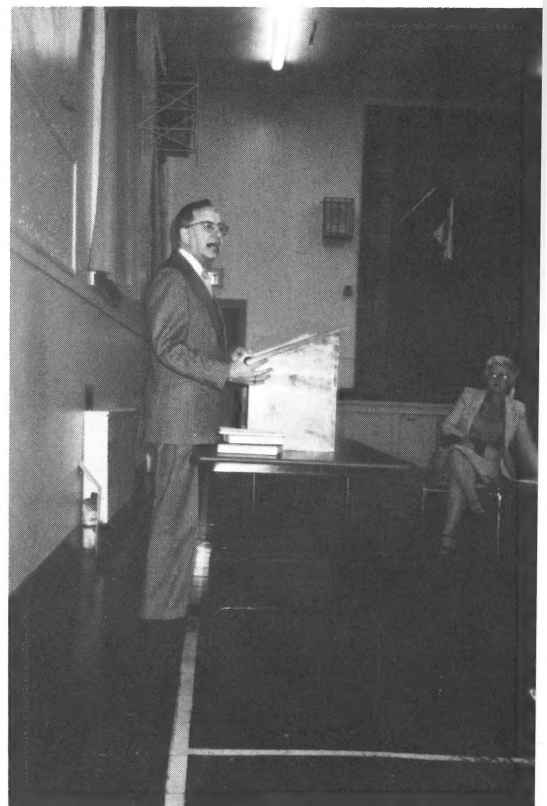

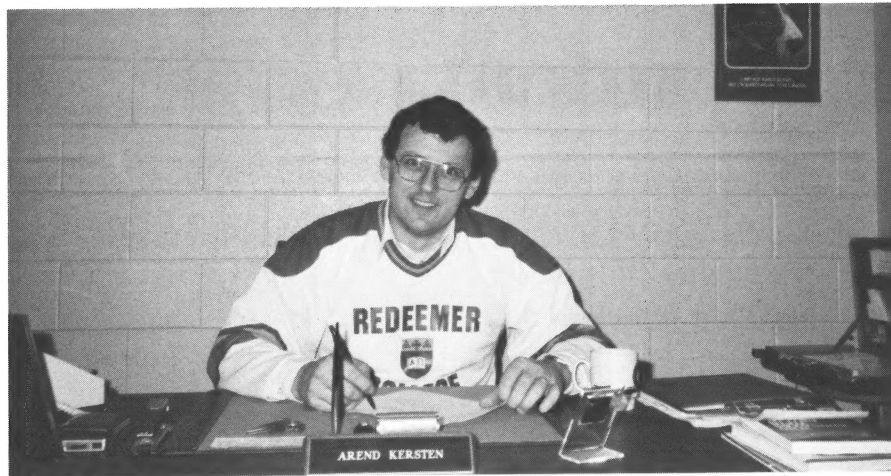

The President

For several weeks during the winter semester, our president, Reverend De Bolster, was quite seriously ill. During those days, the warmth of his smile, the encouraging word or pat on the shoulder he offered to students and staff alike, and the enthusiasm he radiated daily, were noticeably missed in the halls of Redeemer College. Thankful to our God who answers prayer, we were able to welcome Rev. De Bolster and his wife to our final chapel service and to our farewell dinner at the close of the school year, and we anticipated the return of our president to his special place of service among us in the school year to come.

Reverend Henry R. De Bolster
President of the College

From the Administration

Dear Students:

As I write these words, it is April 19, the last day of exams, the last day of the 83-84 academic year, the last day before Good Friday.

It has been a very special year indeed, a year in which we experienced the illness of Rev. De Bolster and his extended absence from campus, and a year in which we said goodbye to our friend and fellow student Art Vander Stelt. Both these events had a profound impact on us as individuals and as an institution. When we remember the 83-84 year, these two events will come to mind quickly.

I remember first meeting with you last September, both at the wiener roast and at the retreat. So many personalities were evident. I saw the boisterous, the confident, and the self-assured. I also saw the lonely, the frightened, the nervous and the insecure. But now it's eight months later. The most special memory I have of the 83-84 academic year is the amount of maturing and growth that took place. We witnessed in so many of you the transition from adolescence to adulthood. As faculty and staff, we want to thank you for allowing us to be part of your lives during this very special time.

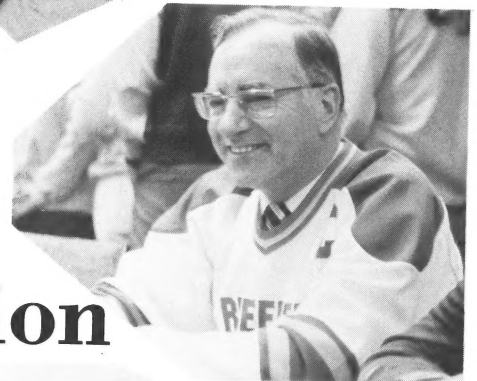

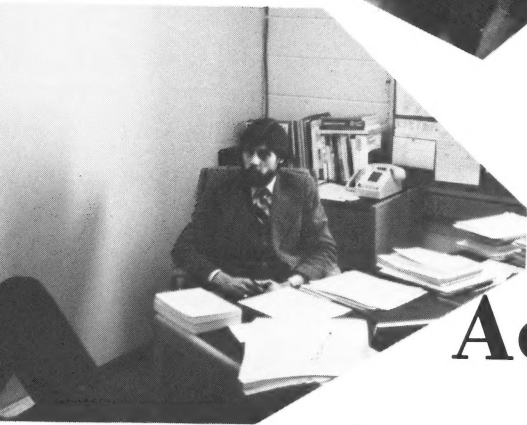

At Redeemer, we are committed to instilling in our students a greater awareness and degree of responsibility of who we are and what our purpose in life must be. Many of you will eventually take up leadership positions within your church and community. It is our hope and prayer that the foundations that have been laid at Redeemer may bring glory and cause for praise to our Redeemer not only today, but also in all your tomorrows.

In three days, we celebrate the victory of Jesus Christ, not only as our Saviour, but also as our Lord. May we always seek to serve Him as Lord in all that we do.

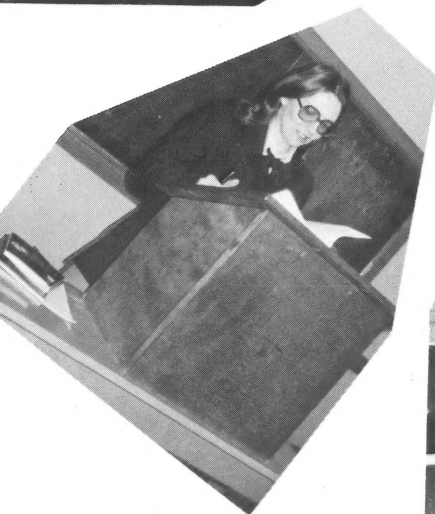

Yours in the service of our Redeemer,

Arend Kersten,
Director of College Advancement

P.S. As for the Redeemer Royals Hockey Team—just wait until next year! A.K.

Students

Therefore, Eli said to Samuel,
"Go, lie down; and if he calls you, you shall say, 'Speak, Lord, for thy servant hears.'"

So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

And the Lord came and stood forth, calling as at other times,
"Samuel! Samuel!" And Samuel said, "Speak, for thy servant hears."

In Memoriam

when the scythe fell it really didn't seem expected its flight was halted twice before but now its fall completed a silent room tears and roses perfume and bravery the flower will fade shortly but memory is forming now his strength of belief against his cross bravery worthy of heavenly reward see the reward follow heavenly light grief will pass whether soon or not bonding will be secured and our faith affirmed or for us his life was unfulfilled . . .

it was not we have grown in his growth in His love

march 13, 1984
richard th vander vaart

On March 10, 1984 our faithful Father took home our friend and classmate, Art Vander Stelt. A memorial page such as this cannot even begin to speak fully of the influence Art had on each of us as faculty, as staff, as students, in both his life and his death.

We praise the Lord for his faithfulness to Art and for reaching us through Art, for his strength strengthened us and pointed us to the source of such strength and hope.

Thankful that we could be a part of Art's life as a college community, we recognize the part he has played, and continues to play, in our own lives. We will remember Art at the piano, in the dorm, in the classroom, in the poolroom. And, he will always hold the place of the first graduate of Redeemer College.

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations.
Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world,
from everlasting to everlasting thou art God.
Thou turnest man back to the dust, and sayest,
"Turn back, O children of men!"
For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, or as a watch in the night.
Thou dost sweep men away; they are like a dream, like grass which is renewed in the morning;
in the morning it flourishes and is renewed;
in the evening it fades and withers.
For we are consumed by thy anger;
by thy wrath we are overwhelmed.
Thou hast set our iniquities before thee,
our secret sins in the light of thy countenance.
For all our days pass away under thy wrath, our years come to an end like a sigh.
The years of our life are three score and ten,
or even by reason of strength fourscore;
Yet their span is but toil and trouble;
they are soon gone, and we fly away.
Who considers the power of thy anger,
and thy wrath according to the fear of thee?
So teach us to number our days that we may get a heart of wisdom.
Return, O Lord! How long?
Have pity on thy servants!
Satisfy us in the morning with thy steadfast love,
that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.
Make us glad as many days as thou hast afflicted us,
and as many years as we have seen evil.
Let thy work be manifest to thy servants, and thy glorious power to their children.
Let the favor of the Lord our God be upon us,
and establish thou the work of our hands upon us, Yea, the work of our hands establish thou it.

Hey, Sylv, did you get No. 3?
Sylv? Sylv? Hey, Vanden Hazell!

If you guys don't quit bugging me
I'll never get this paper finished.

Why do I do this to myself?

Finger licking good!

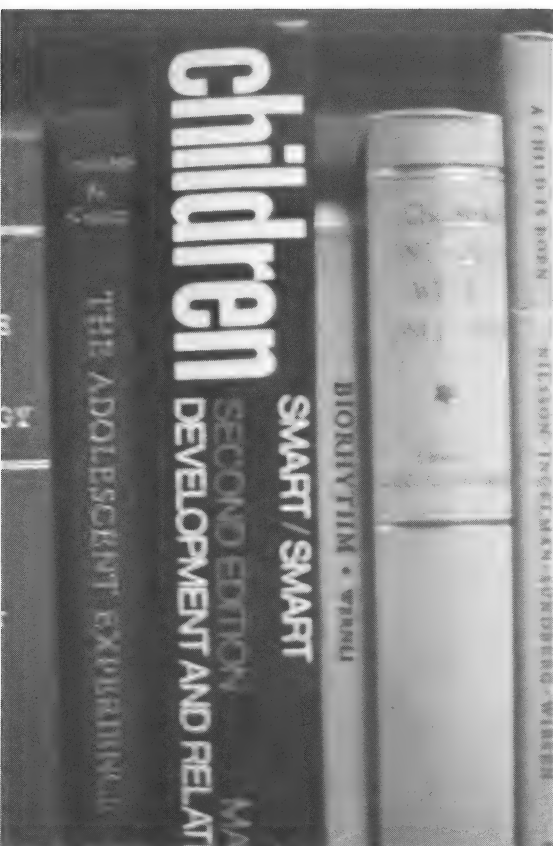

Taking the bus—to church!

The day just doesn't start until I've had my coffee!

That seems to be a hard way of doing things, Pete.
Perhaps you should consult

Serve the Lord with gladness

Come into his presence with singing!

REDEEMER COLLEGE SONG

They say that at Redeemer
The dorms are mighty fine.
They promise you a room-mate
Then give you eight or nine.

They say that at Redeemer
The R.A. is your friend.
But if you disappoint her She'll send you to Arend.

They say that at Redeemer
The Dean is very fine.
But you don't want to see him
If your G.P.A.'s not nine.

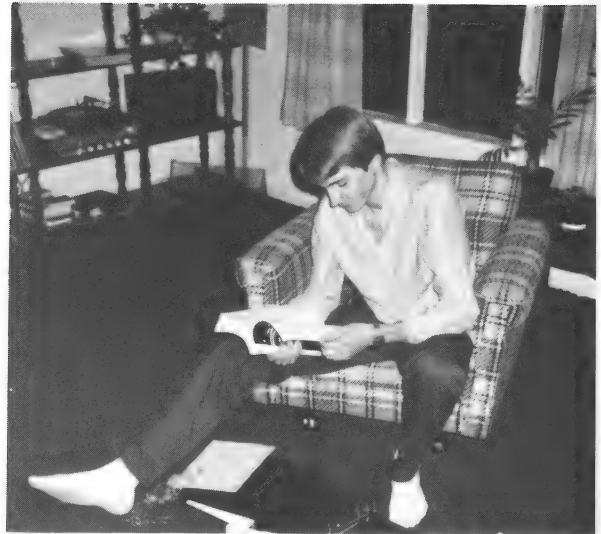

They say that at Redeemer
To study is the thing.
But instead of getting a B.A.
Some settle for a ring.

They say that at Redeemer
The workload is quite light.
Then why, when it was midterm,
Were the deskclamps on all night?

They say that at Redeemer
The profs are really swell.
If you take notes in shorthand
You'll get along with Pell.

Chorus:
Oh, I don't want no more of college life.
Oh, I just want to be Back with my family
Oh, but I want to go home.

How about . . . destroyed?

My, my, don't we look chipper this morning!

The Students' Council was privileged to be given the responsibilities it was elected to carry out at the beginning of the school year. This has proved to be more than a duty for we have had a great deal of fun with events, dealing with the students, and getting together in our spare time, whether for buying furniture or even putting together the constitution.

With the Lord's help this year has also been a great learning experience for many of us. We've made mistakes and have had successes as well.

Overall it's been a great year, and I know each member has benefitted a lot from the experience. I hope next year's council is blessed as much as we were in our work at Redeemer College.

It is important to remember that the student body contributes a great deal to the job of the Students' Council.

Thank you for your input and efforts!

Editor's Message

All of the hard work that has gone into putting this yearbook together, all of the joy we had in doing it, and all of the reward we gained from it is but a part of all the work, joy, and reward that had made this year at Redeemer College what it has been. We hope that this book has captured in some way the unique character of this place we call Redeemer, for, from the individuality of each of our students and the efforts of our hockey team to the demands of our curriculum and colour of Professor Plantinga's ties, this institution is special. Our greatest wish is that this yearbook has preserved and continues to express the special quality of Redeemer as a Christian college and the uniqueness of all we do here in the service of our Lord.

On behalf of the yearbook staff,

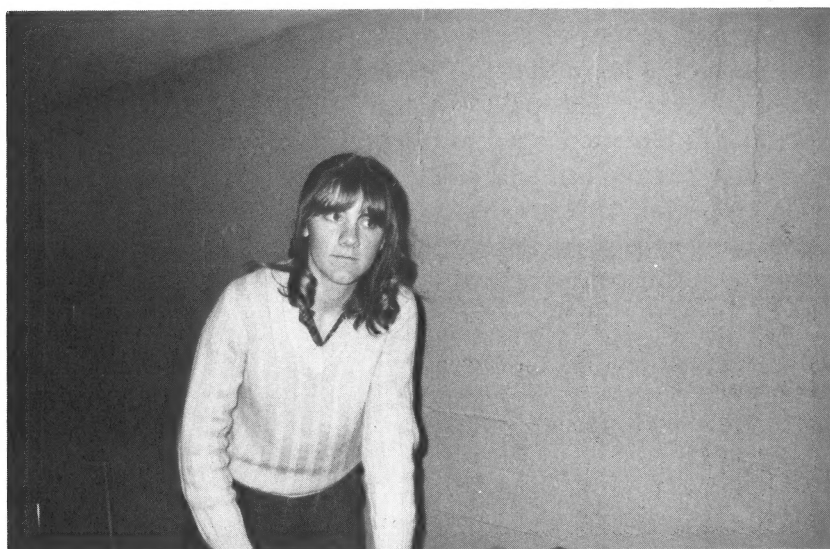

Sylvia.

A special thank you to all those who helped, in whatever way, to put this yearbook together. The time and efforts you shared are remembered and appreciated!

Goodbye

To all those who are not returning to Redeemer College in the coming school year:
We rejoice that we could have been together this past year, 1983-84, the year of our Lord, and we pray for a blessing on your future path.

May the road rise to meet you,
May the wind always be at your back.
May the sun shine warm upon your face,
The rains fall soft upon your fields,
And until we meet again—
May God hold you in the palm of His hand.
